Intro

It's been a long time since the original document came out. We wanted to improve it by making it shorter, more comprehensible, and adding some more recent and more personal items. We also wanted to explain our experiences with the community and the aftermath of the original release here, mostly because we aren't anonymous anymore. Because of this the document will consist of 2 parts: the evidence and our story. The evidence will only contain objective things making it much shorter compared to the last rendition.

This time it's primarily Jamey and Freaky assembling this document, and some others we do want to keep anonymous helping out behind the scenes. If you want to ask questions and complain, go to Jamey and Freaky, we take full responsibility for this document and actually want to talk like we've tried to since the release of the original. Our usernames on Twitter/X are @J_Vampyre_ and @oO_Freaky_Oo, feel free to reach out there.
Our stories make up the majority of the document, but also contain screenshots and talk about the community. This part making up the majority of the document does not imply we deem ourselves more important than the facts, it just needs more explaining than the objective evidence.

Pixelkitty is not associated with this rendition, but they were with the original version. They came up with making a document and spreading it anonymously, but in the end when we were found out they backed down and broke their promise to stick through, outing us in the process. We'll talk more about that in the second half.

CONTENT WARNINGS

This document includes topics such as

- Loli and other NSFW (censored)
- Slurs (f-slur, n-word, etc)
- Anti-semitism and nazi-symbolism
- Racist stereotypes
- Grooming
- Stalking
- Death threats
- Talk about mental illness and suicide

Chapters containing specific content have been labelled accordingly, except Other noteworthy things and Part 2: epilogue. These chapters contain talks about stalking, mention of grooming and pedophilia (but no direct evidence of, only links to evidence), death threats, and talk about mental illness and suicide.

In this version evidence won't be censored when it comes to names and sensitive content, we however will censor any pornographic content. Some screenshots have been cropped to only leave crucial parts. This has been done sparingly and only in favour of regular server members and readability. We understand screenshots can't show everything, so feel free to search for these things in the server yourself.

Part 1: evidence

Racism, casual homophobia, antisemitism, etc

- Will saying the N word in videos
  - DAGames Vine Compilation at 2:37
  - #StoneColdChallenge (Try Not To Laugh) at 10:35
  - UNDERTALE (NEUTRAL GENOCIDE) EPISODE TWENTY-TWO - FINALE - DAGames at 5:07
- Will and Chris posting memes containing the N word (Chris' pos has been deleted as of october 17th 2024)

- Will's desktop is shown on stream to have a file named the N word

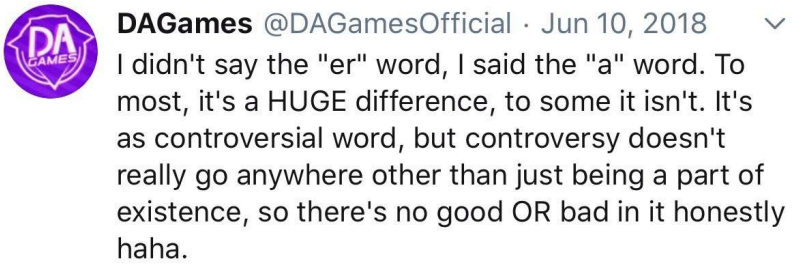
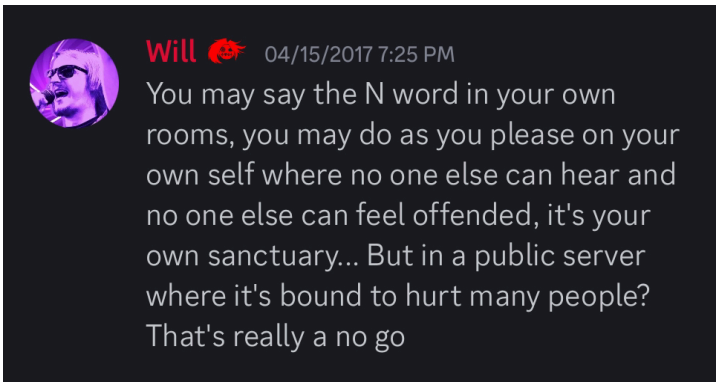
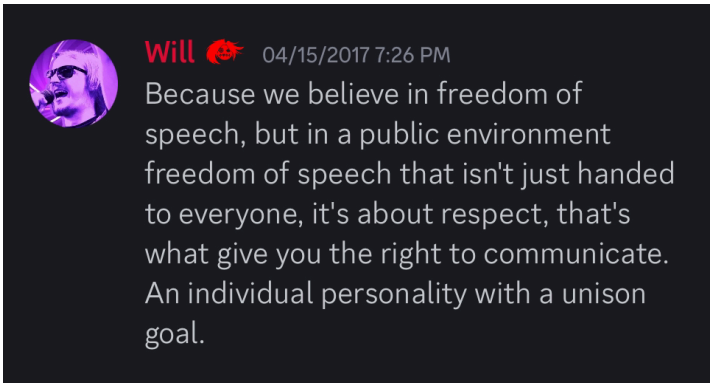
- Will explaining why saying the N-word is okay





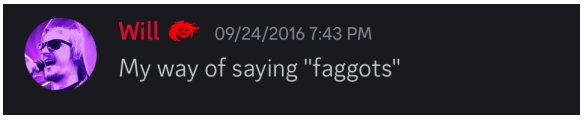


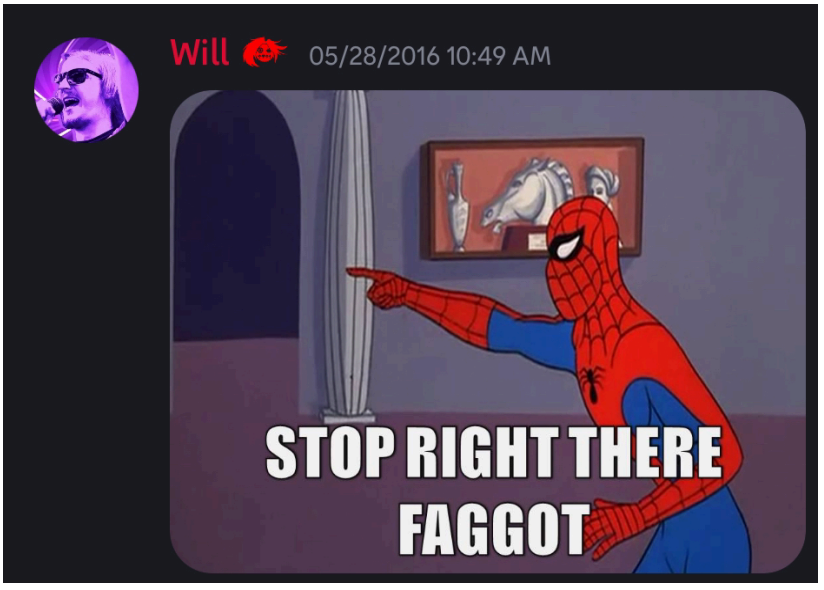
- Will using racism as a joke

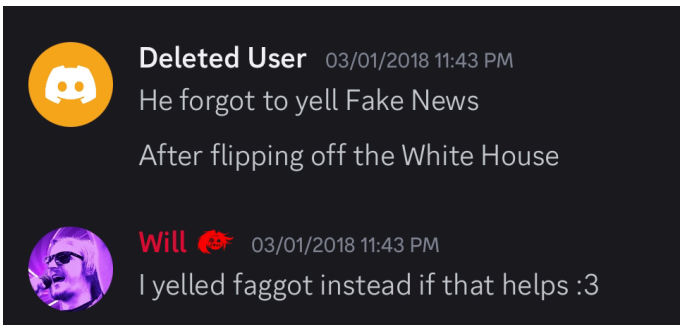
Analog Not Included! (Playstation Classic Parody) uses Asian stereotypes

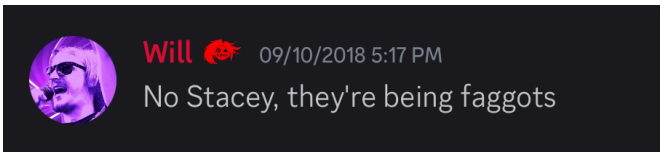
Vine in DiamondArmada tweet uses racism as a concept as a joke

- Will using the f-word in a harmful and non-reclaiming manner (though Will is bisexual himself)

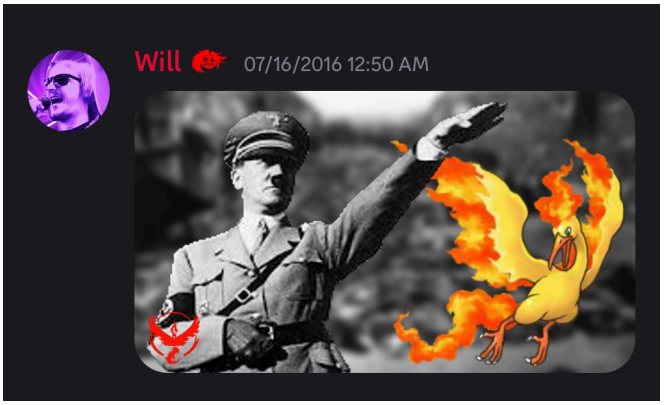


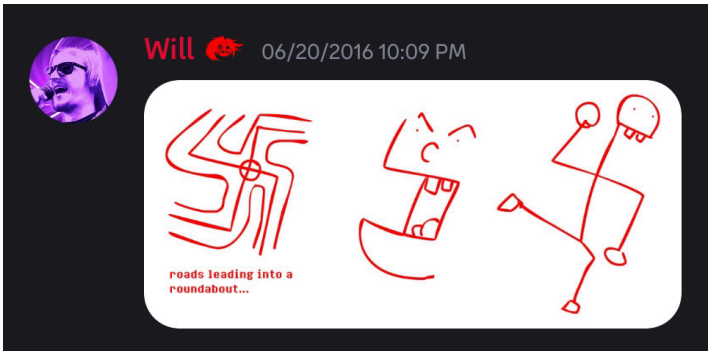




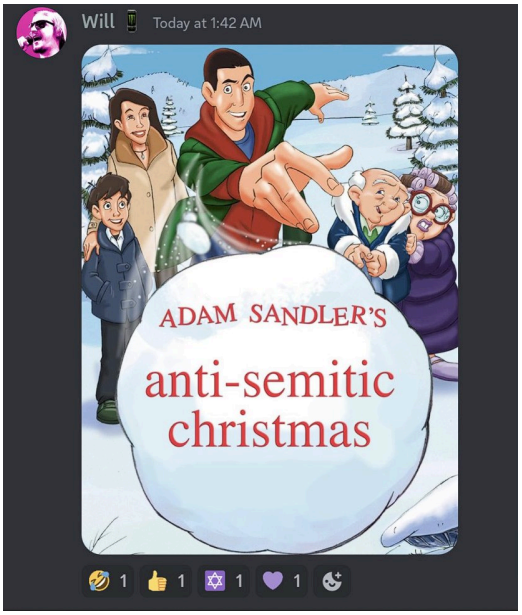


- Casual usage of nazi symbolism in a logo and jokes/memes





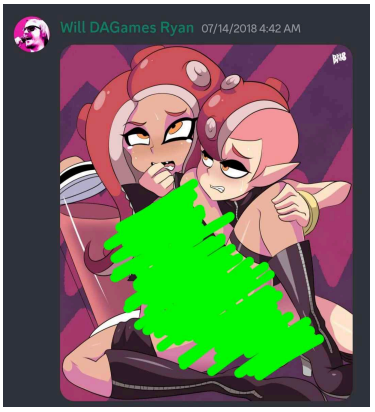
- Antisemitism is the joke (screenshot taken on september 5th 2023 in Lala's server)

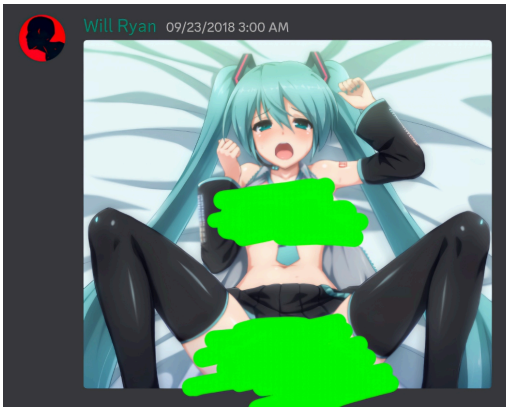


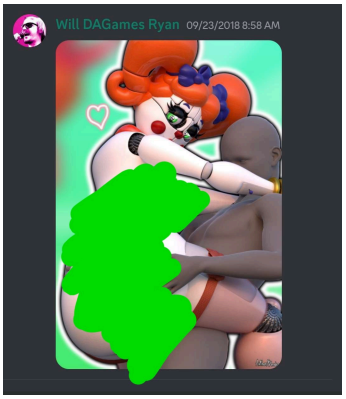
Proof of most of these actually being posted from Will and Chris' accounts can be found here.

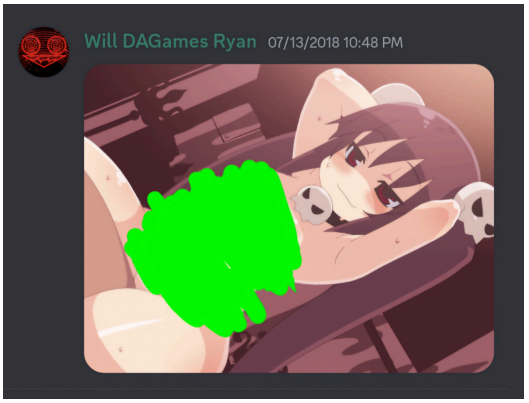
NSFW/loli

- Loli/NSFW art of minor/teen-presenting characters and/or characters that are canonically minors, either through confirmed age (i.e. Miku is 16) or because of important character points (i.e Circus baby being possessed by a child). Video proof that it's actually Will here.

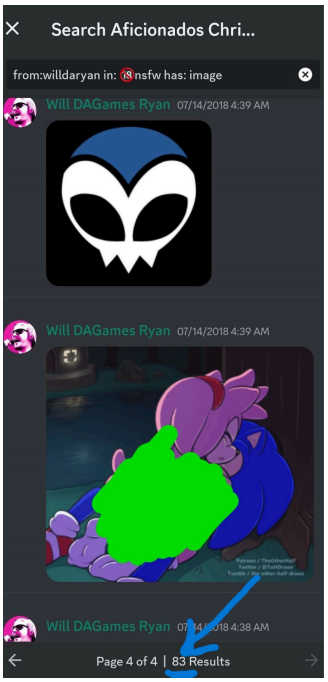


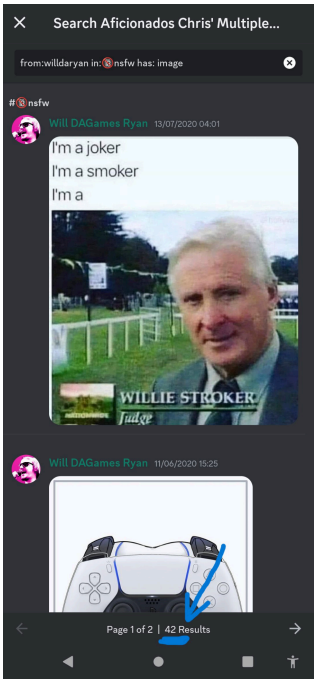




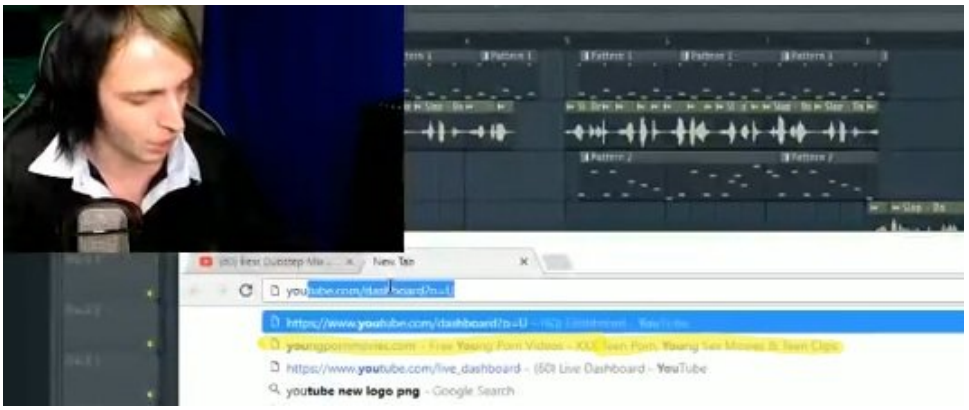


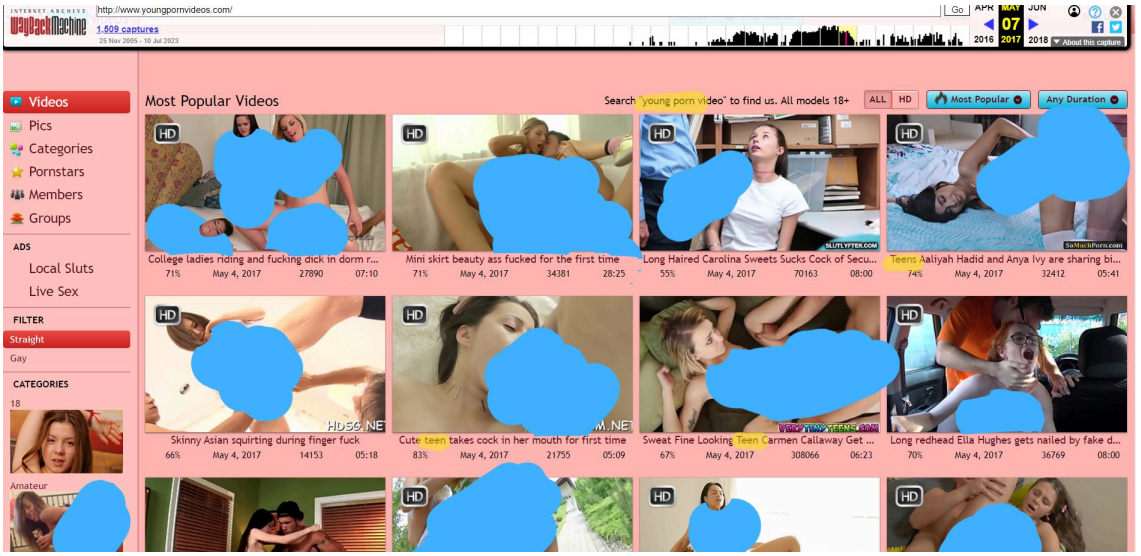
All screenshots are from AficionadosChris' server, but most have been deleted upon the release of the original document. Note the difference in page counts in these searches, the first having been taken before the doc came out while searching for evidence, and the second after:





- Will's search history revealing he watches porn of teen girls in a [live stream clip] (with Wayback Machine screenshot showing the site he looked up)

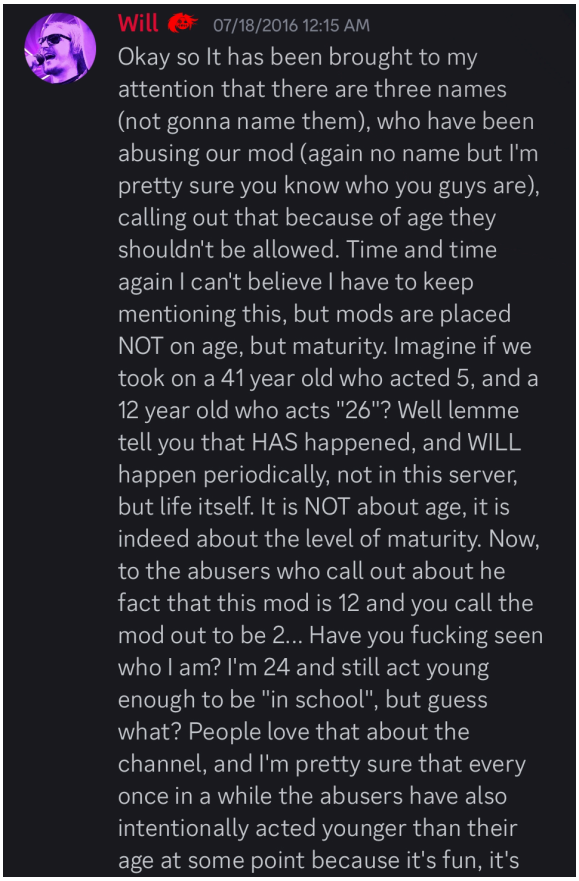


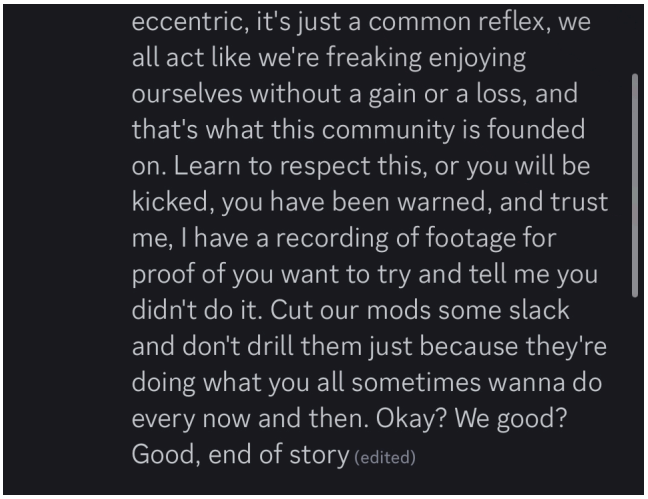


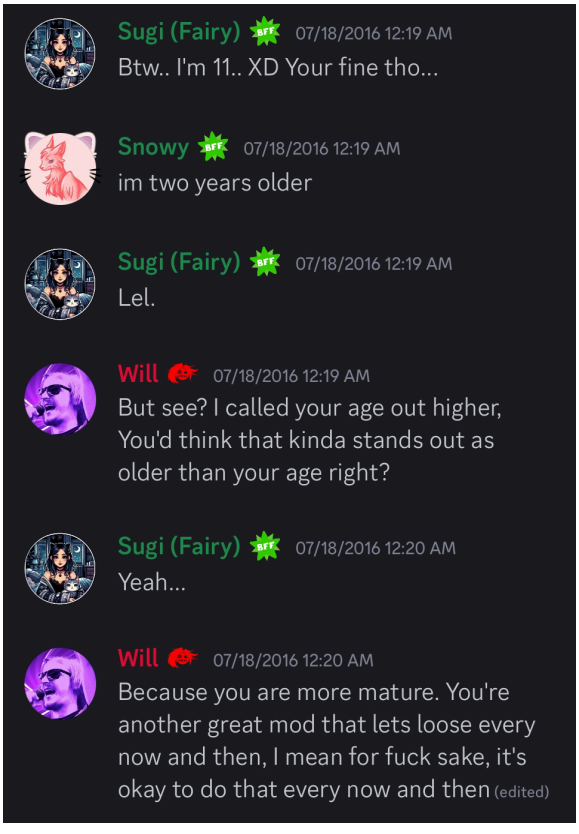
- Gross NSFW jokes (from AficionadosChris' and Lala's servers)

Other noteworthy things

- 11 year old was a mod, gets called mature by Will

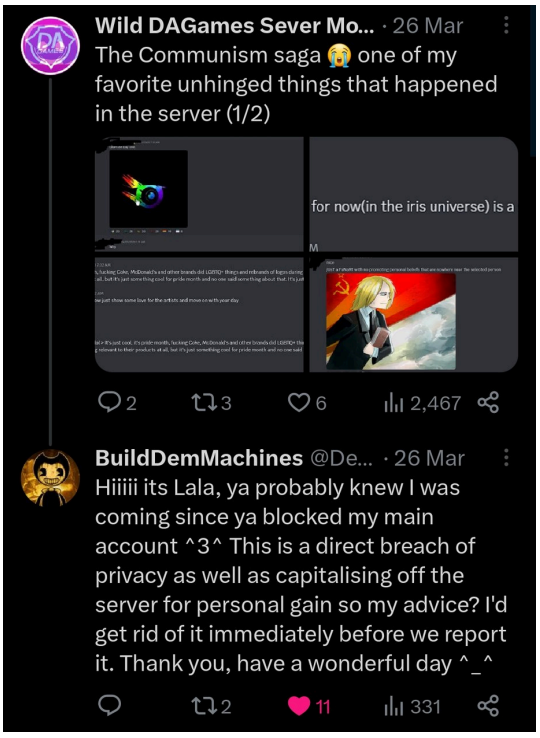




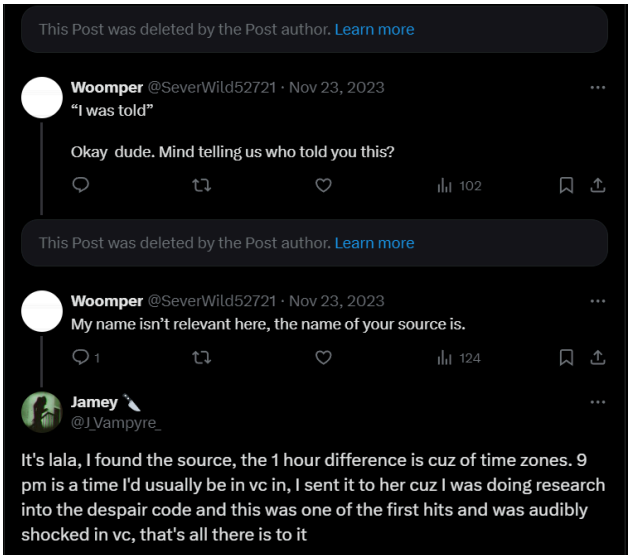


- Will addresses the BLM protests super-nonchalantly as if corporations are more important than the death of people of colour (note: we don't fully agree with looting, but we at least understand why it happens)

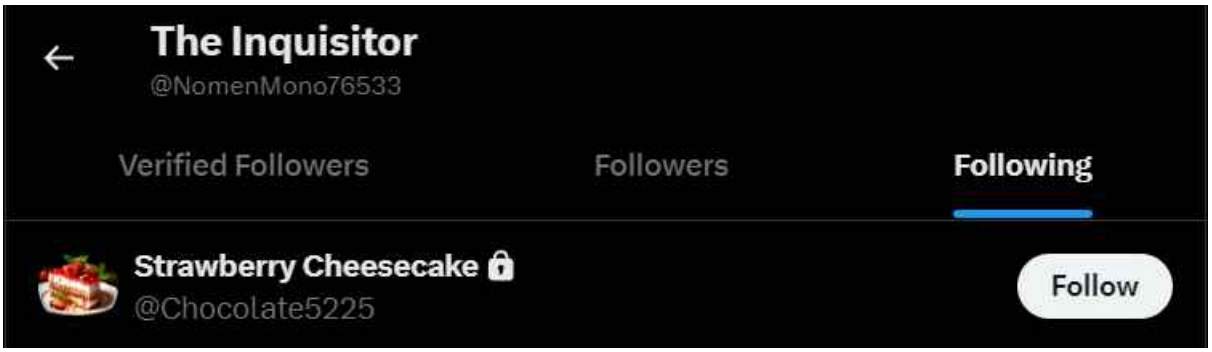
- Lala stalking several people using multiple accounts (@DemBuild and @Chocolate5225 confirmed, potentially @NomenMono76533 and @dadocquestions)
  - Lala shows directly that it's her on @DemBuild using it to evade blocks



○ On @Chocolate5225 it's harder to see considering she deleted the account, but she used it to spread a screenshot of me sharing a screenshot of someone saying the N word on 4chan to paint me in a bad light (the full explanation can be found here). She later admitted to having been caught.

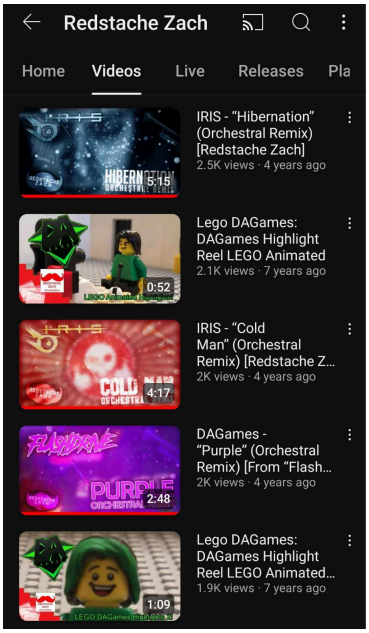


○ @NomenMono76533 is an account that frequently replies to our posts about Will and DAGames, mostly to Jamey. We don't know who runs it, but during the period @Chocolate5225 was still up and private, they were seemingly mutuals. This could mean that Lala might be running both, but this is speculation.



- Pedophiles and groomers within the community never getting banned/victims not getting enough recognition.
  - Link to a thread exposing Markeidian, a groomer that used to be in the DA server, getting deleted by mods, and Will calling it “feeding attention to negative things” in a vent (screenshot taken on november 9th 2022).

  - Redstache Zach (creator of Lego DAGames and several covers) never got talked about by the team despite him getting arrested for possession of child pornography in 2020 being a commonly known fact within the community (full arrest report can be found here). He should be out of prison later this year.



Part 2: personal stories

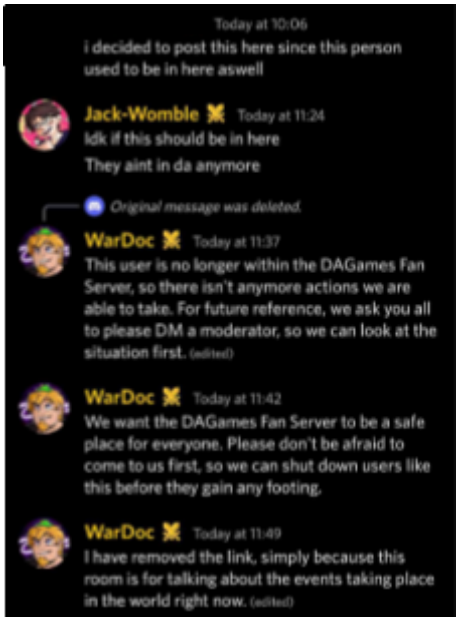
Jamey's story

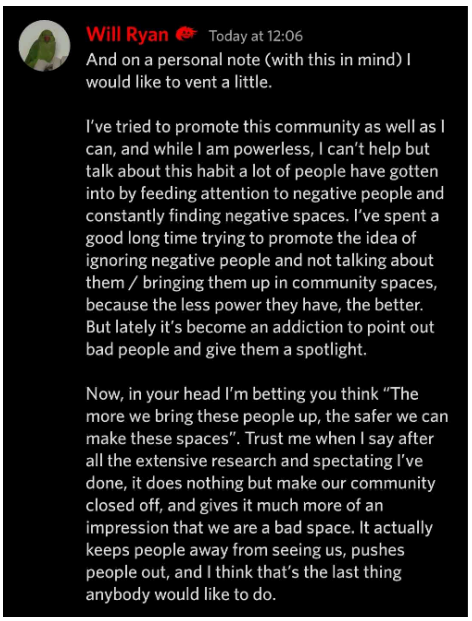
Hi, this is Jamey writing. Last november I posted a thread about my part in this which I still think portrays my part in the original release very well. You can read it here. Right now I primarily want to talk about what happened after, about the community's attitude towards me through the years (yes, even before the original document) and how I feel about all of that.

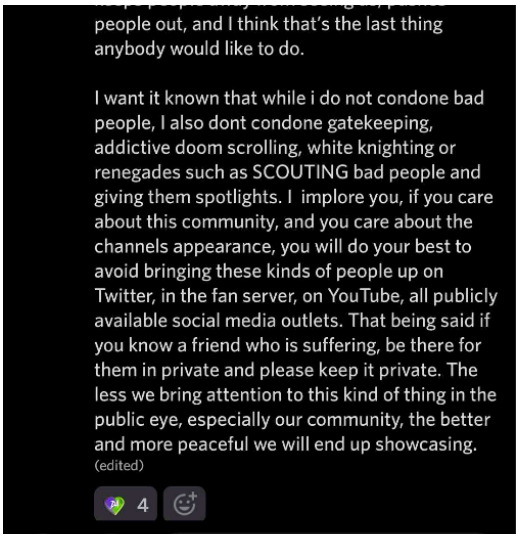
The first release was messy, far worse than I had expected. I don't want to go into full detail because I want to keep this part short, but you should know that our trust was broken more than once, both by people who worked on the document and by people I used to be friends with. I took most of the beating, primarily because I was a prominent figure in the community, but also because Freaky didn't have internet (more about that in her part) and because Pixelkitty left us to clean up the mess. People were upset because I did this, because I made art (e.g Will's BFTFT concert outfit) and was close to Will allegedly just to 'cancel him' in the end for clout. I've been called names, I've been called a liar, a manipulator. I've been stalked, falsely accused of either stalking or feigning evidence, been sent death threats, everything.

But this isn't the first time things like this have happened to me in this community. Of course before this it was over less, but still. After years of having to deal with abuse in many forms that never got dealt with properly I've stopped feeling sorry for the people that never did anything to stop it. Hell, sometimes they took part in it. For years now it has felt like people had it out for me for some reason. I still don't know why they did, but I'll tell you about some situations now to shed light on why I turned out this way. It of course doesn't fully justify my actions, but it does explain my feelings and reasoning.

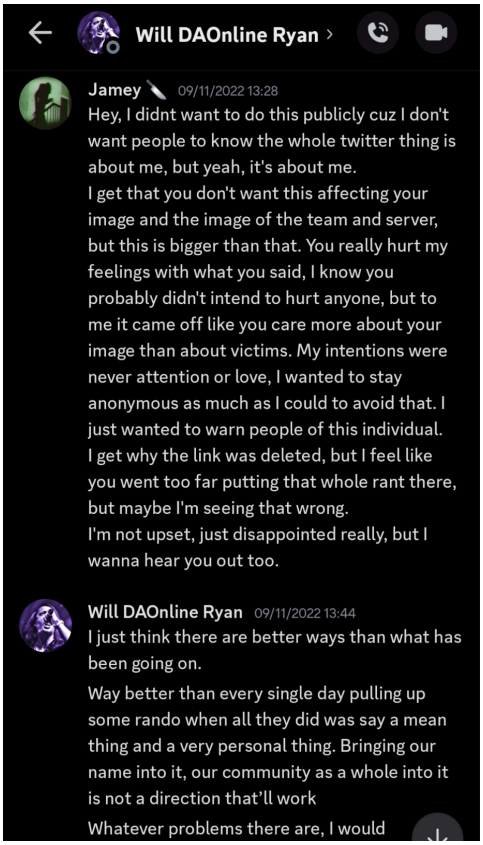
From 2018 to 2020, I was groomed at ages 15 through 17 by someone from the DA community, but they were never brought to justice as he seemingly left on his own. In 2022 I wrote an anonymous thread about it, which can be found here. When my friend posted the thread to the discord it got deleted and Will himself called it "drama that tarnished the brand" as also seen in Other noteworthy things.

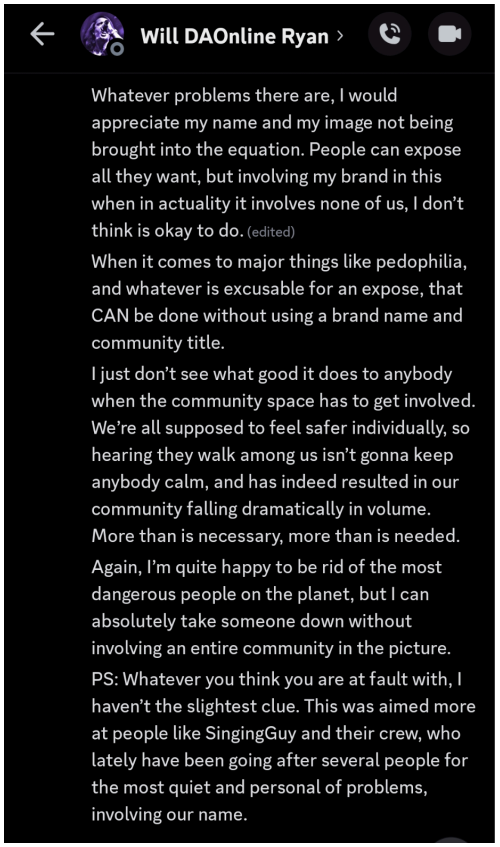


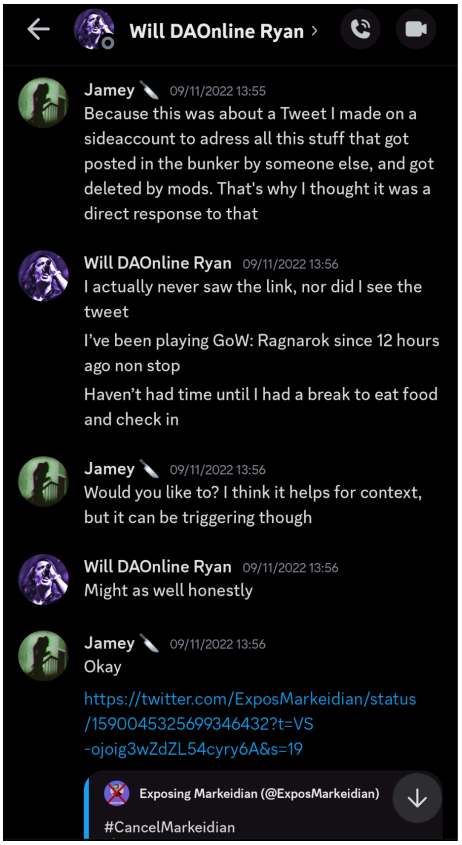


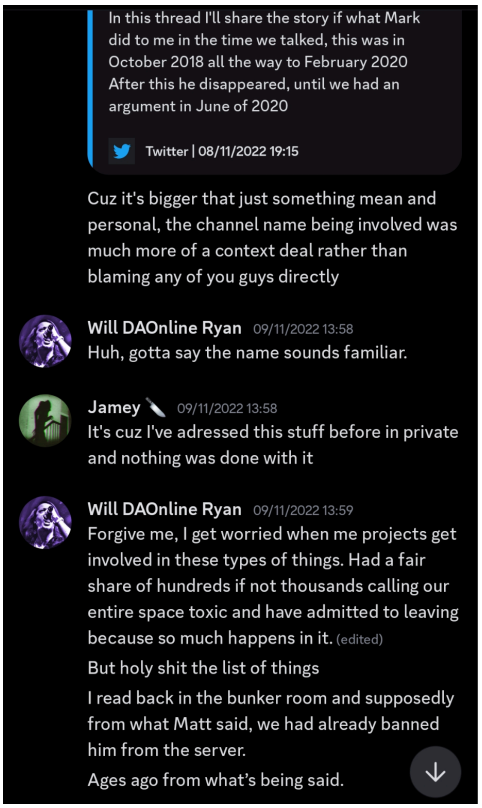


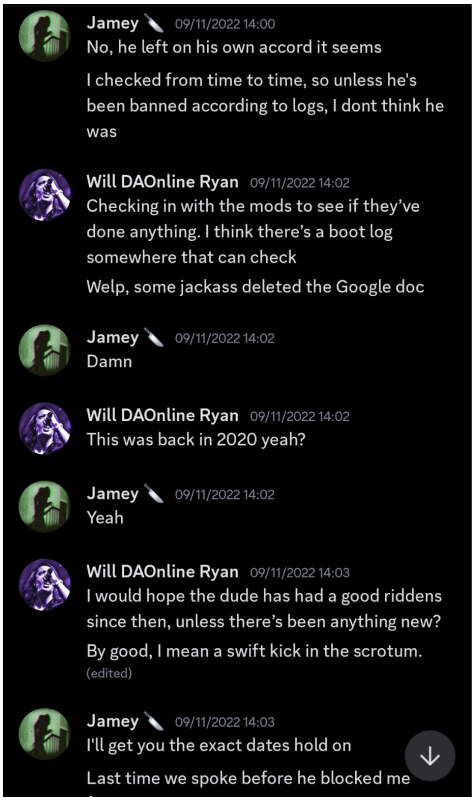
When I approached Will about this in dms he seemed understanding but still didn't announce anything to the community. I already thought this was very dangerous as it just lets groomers do their thing, now I also think it might be a case of offenders protecting other offenders, subconscious or not.

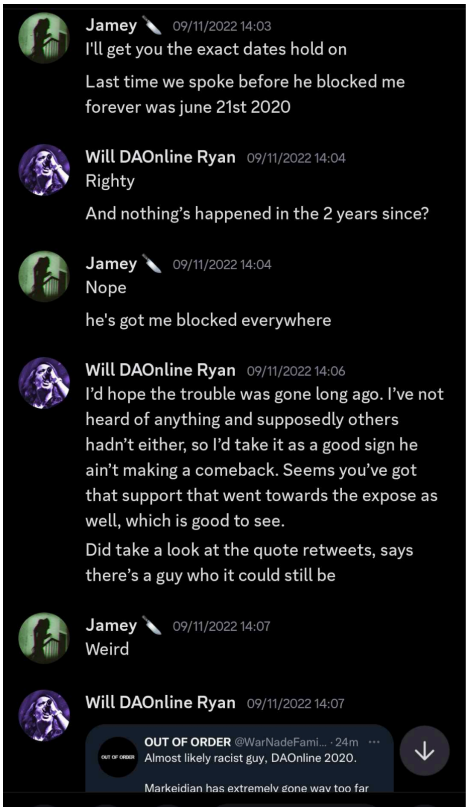


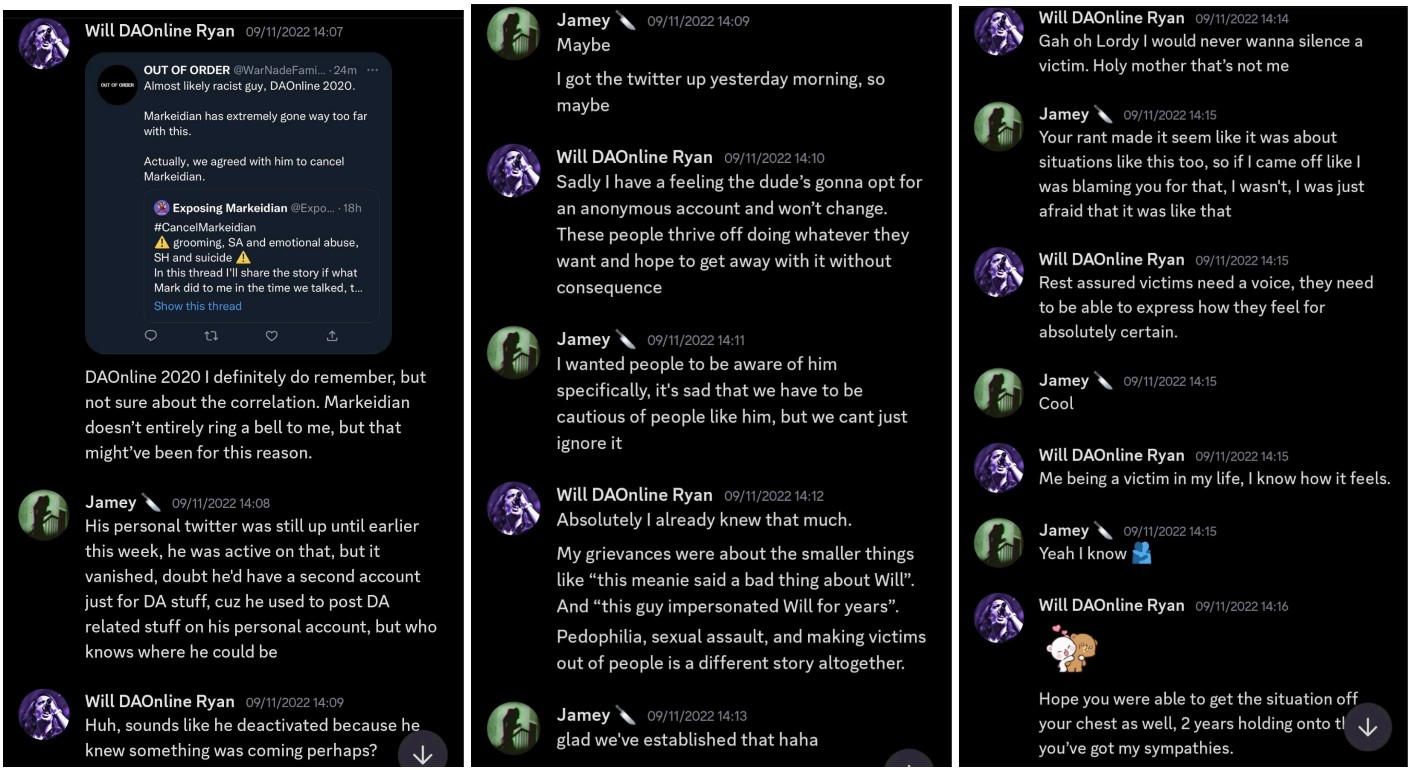












In 2021 I was called out for being friends with someone who was openly hated by the community for criticising Will and the channel, mostly about shipping prices for non-US orders and about the lack of European convention appearances, and for generally not being "nice enough". I was told to stop being friends with them and that I wasn't doing anything to stop them, that we weren't empathic, and that they basically deserved to get dogpiled all the time. The hate they got went as far as death threats, saying that she deserved to be depressed or that her depression wasn't real and that they aren't a victim. They had already been banned from the server when this conversation happened. In this conversation most of the mod team, Will himself and several people in the server who I considered to be friends seemed to have turned on me and made it seem like I was responsible for my friend's actions. And though their actions (i.e. playing the victim, pulling the suicide card) were very unhealthy and problematic, it is important to know that Will has a very long history of similar behavior while being 12 years older than her. This isn't the only time something like this has happened. The conversation below isn't the full one as it is far too long to be included here, but you can see my point.

Look, my two brutally honest cents? You can be friends with whoever you want but you can't keep excusing shitty behaviour if they're being a twat in a public forum. I've seen some of these posts that are upsetting Will and from repeat offenders and it's consistently a cycle of "EW DA RELATED THING" to things being normal and rinse repeat. If you're going to be a toxic shit, you not welcome when all we want is the best for this community.
Welcome to my Ted Talk.

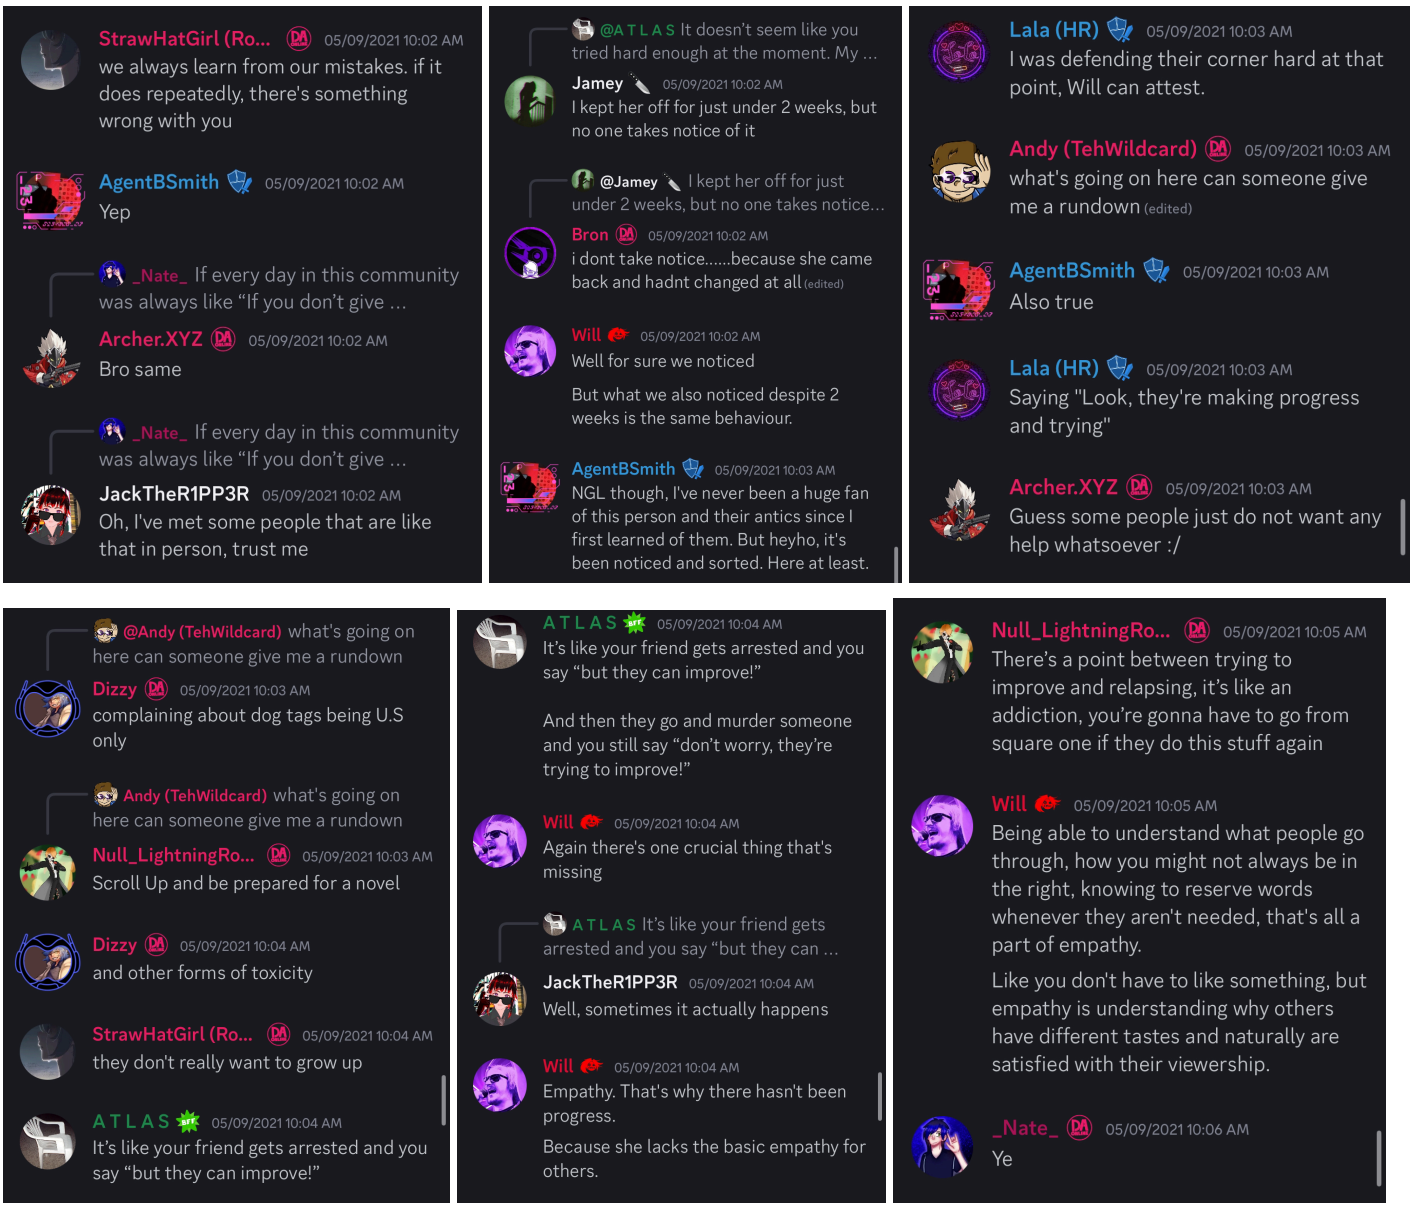
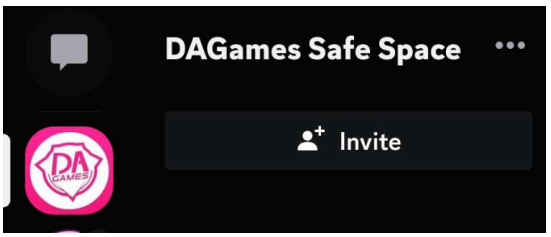
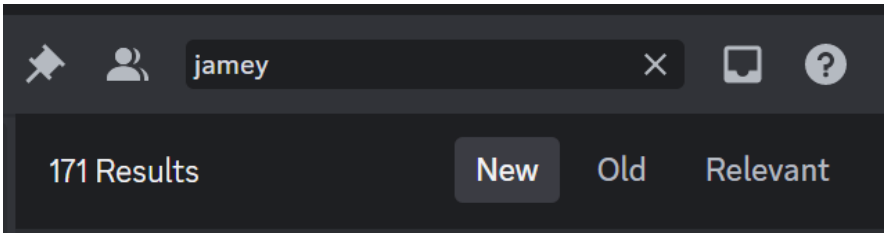
Null_LightningRo... 05/09/2021 10:01 AM
There's the good and bad of a community, by calling out those you've just named, you're really doing the same thing as people do with our community; Generalising



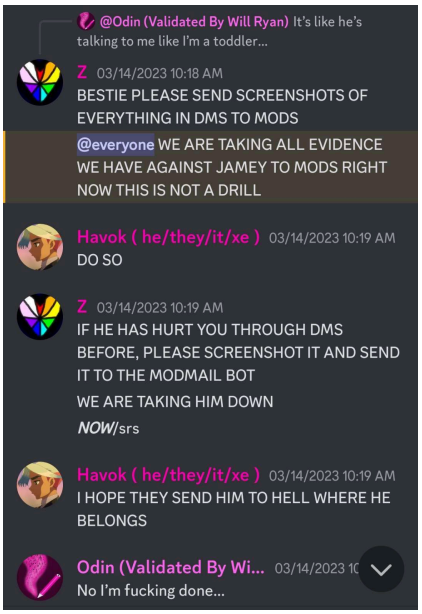
In early 2023, after becoming somewhat of a prominent figure in the community, I had a hate mob sent after me because I was vocal about my opinions about politics and my ideals, wanted to help enforce server rules and wanted people to not hurt Wills feelings through primarily art. They tried to get me either kicked or banned from the server through anonymous claims I couldn't do anything against. They got me kicked for about 2 days until I figured out why I got kicked and successfully appealed. A couple days after the kick someone involved with the group behind it approached me and revealed that several people hated me (and some others, but especially me) for either my popularity or for reasons still unknown to me. After they invited me to their server to take a look for myself I found that a group of 20+ people had conspired against me to get me kicked, had shared death wishes, private messages and potentially private info, and more. They never properly apologised to me and when I brought it to the attention of mods and Will, no proper action was taken. As far as I know they're still part of the community.
Note that in some screenshots it says either today or yesterday, these were taken on march 25th of 2023 when the confrontation happened.

This is the server the people involved organised this in, along with a result count of a search of my name:

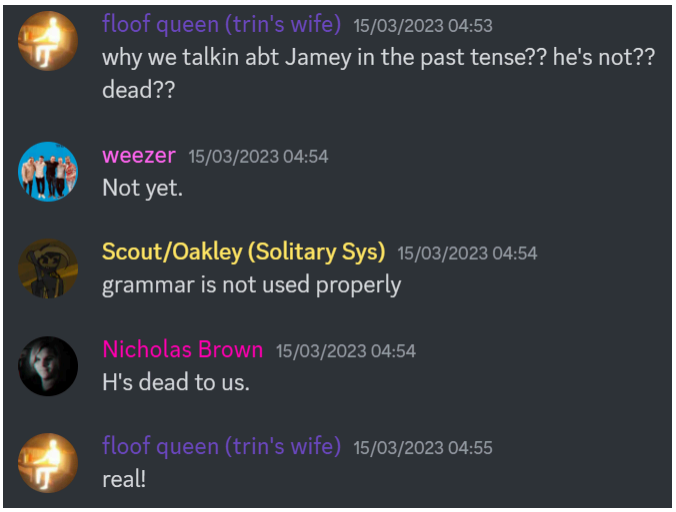


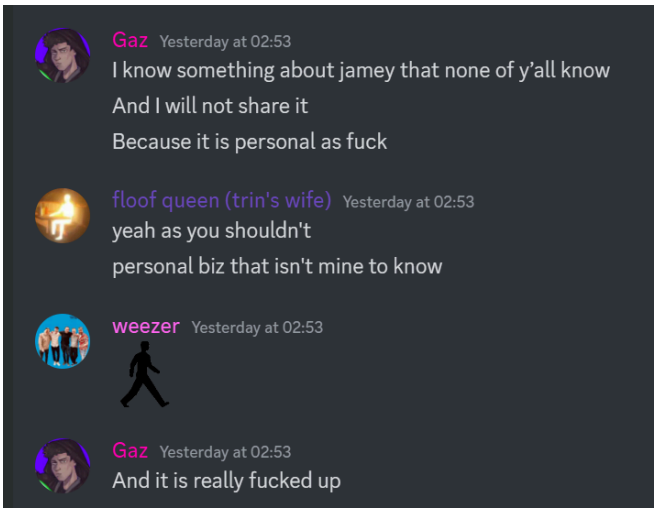


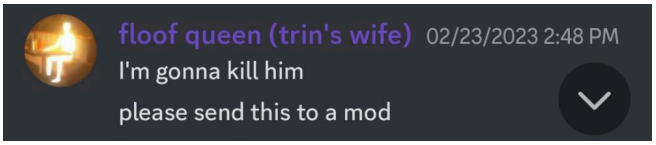
ZPlays announcing them attempting to get me kicked and succeeding:

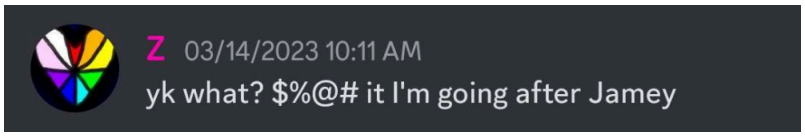


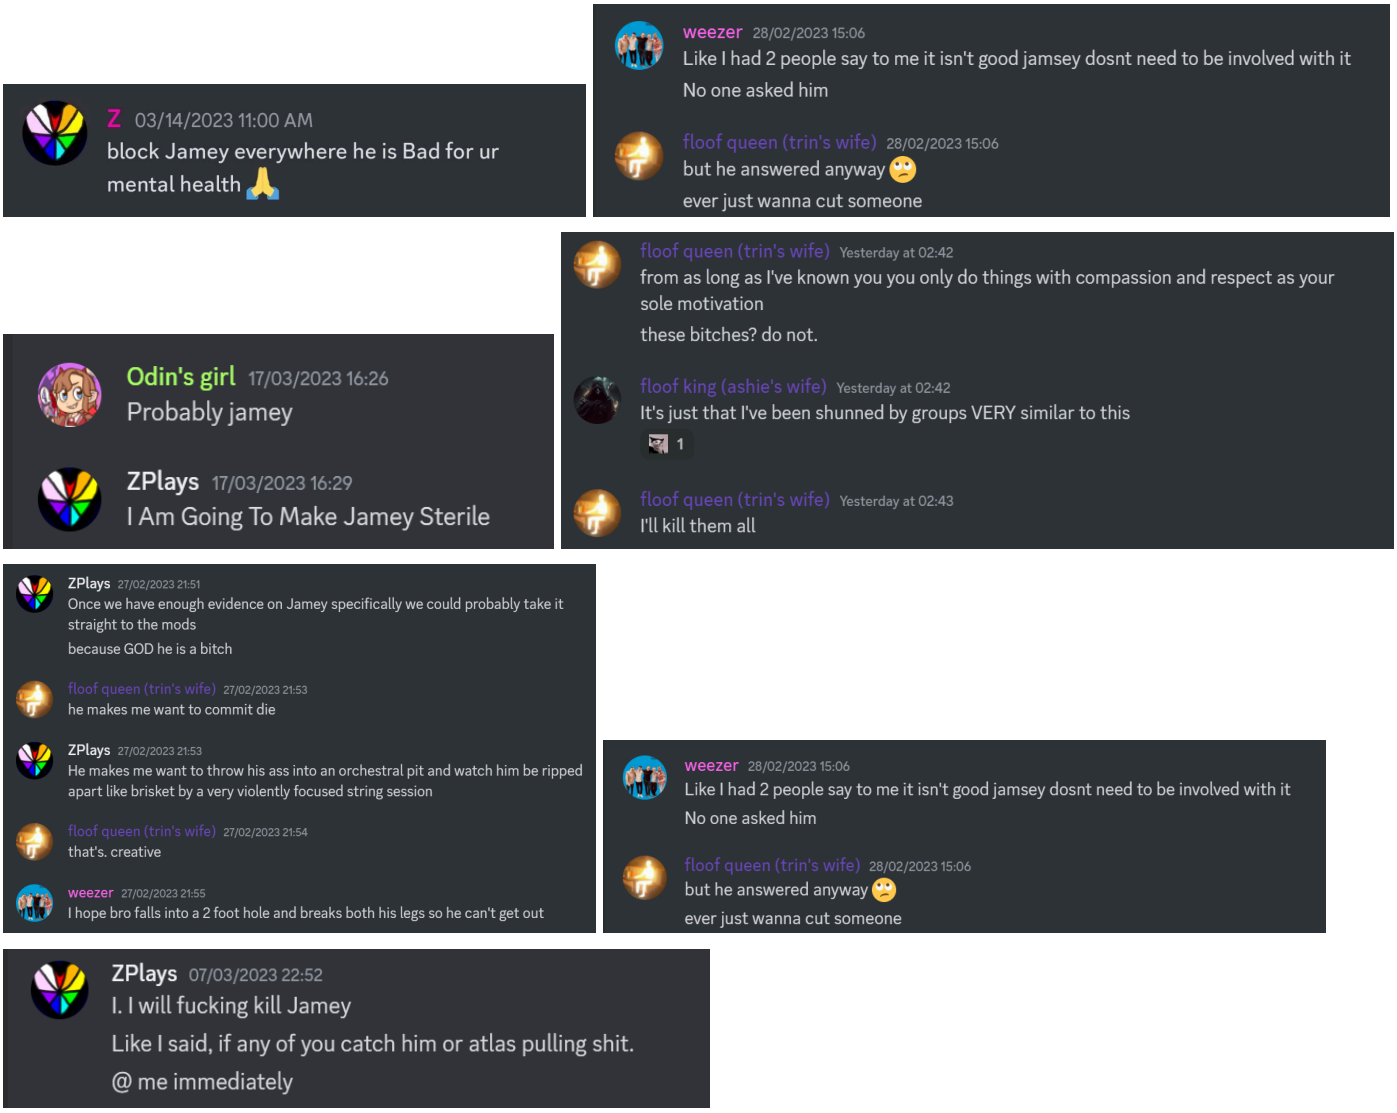
Some of the several (mostly vague) threats they made towards me or talking about private knowledge they have on me:





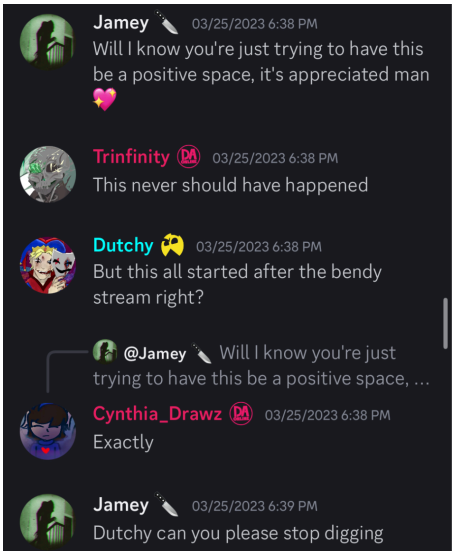


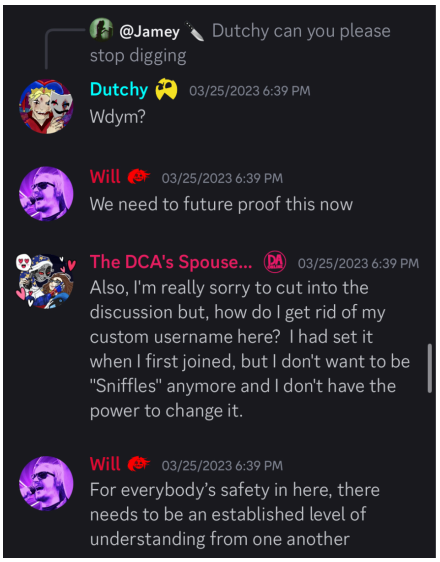


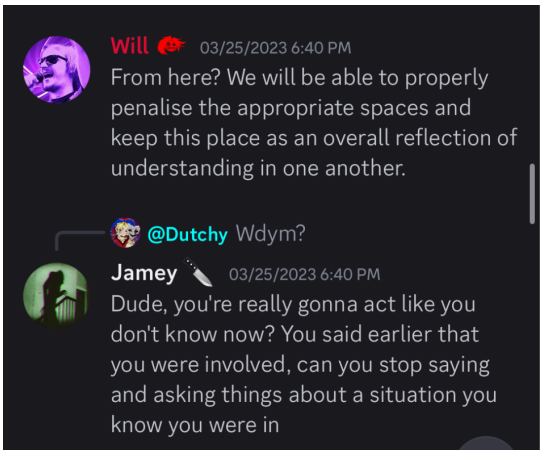


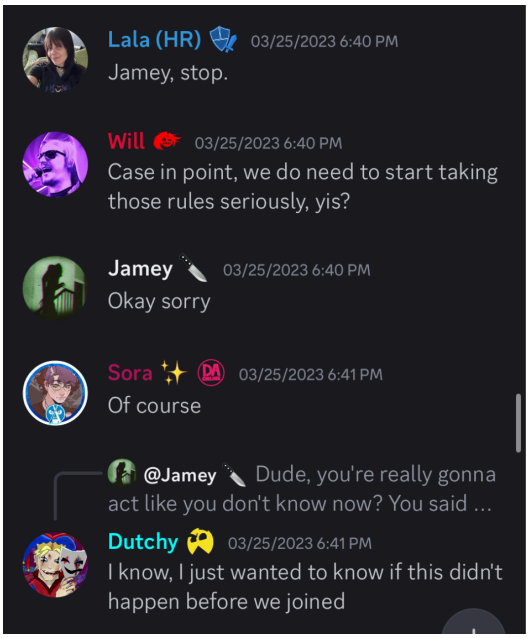
I was invited to the server alongside a majority of the mod team to see what happened and to talk it out, but nothing really came of it. I confronted these people by myself because the mods were instructed not to say anything, leaving me to deal with them even though it's their job. Apparently Will made the group apologise for their actions in a group chat I wasn't invited to for reasons unknown to me which shows to me that they weren't sorry for what they did, just because they were caught. I was told by one mod they would get kicked for what they did, but this eventually didn't go through even though they had direct evidence of what happened.

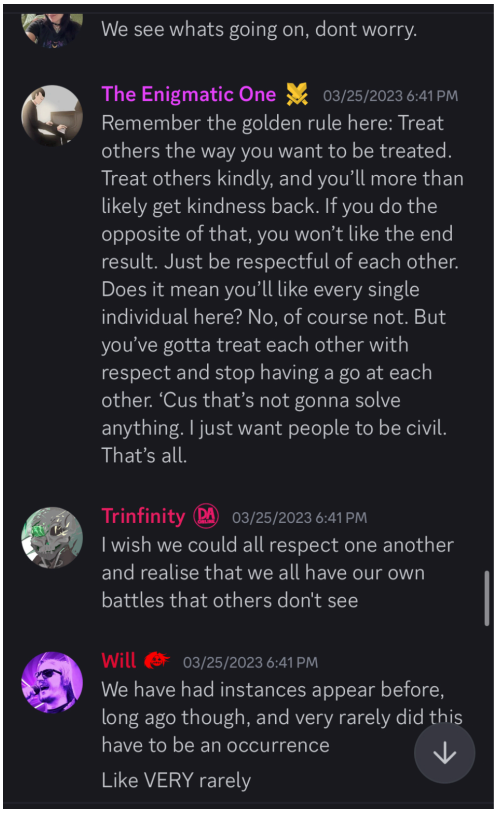
Also whenever a conversation about the situation happened on the server and I got upset, I was just told to stop talking by mods instead of them dealing with the actual problem, creating a more hostile environment.









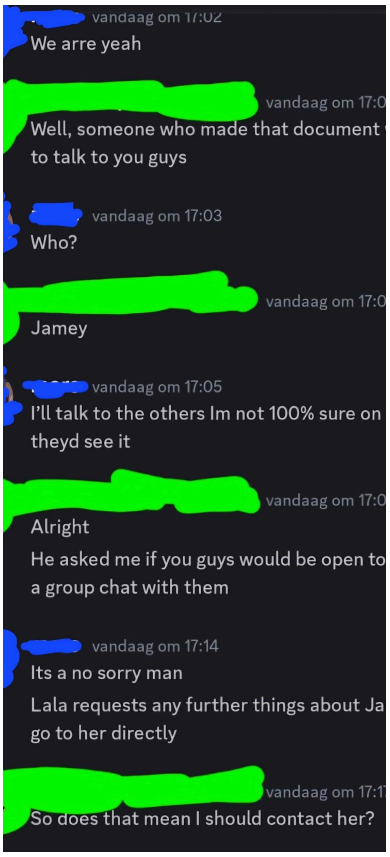


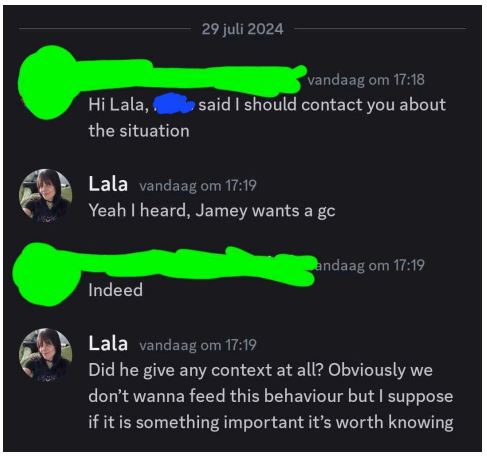
I've also fallen victim to more casual forms of dogpiling, being singled out in a group, being held to higher standards than others, things like that. I've been banned from friend group servers for doing things others also did that I was never told were bad, for wanting people to be better, and more.

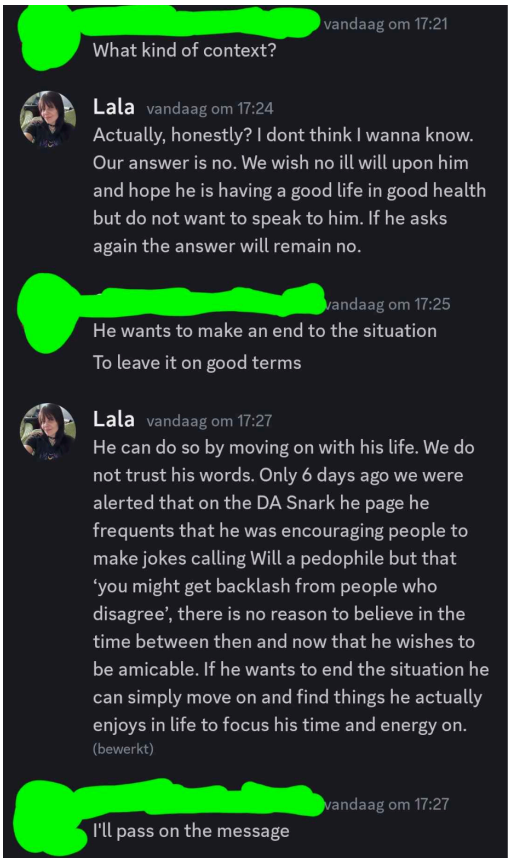
Because of all these things and more, the bigger things in particular, I no longer feel sorry for the team, and especially not for Will, Inu and Lala. It's not fully my fault that I snapped, that I refuse to feel actual guilt over how mean I've been. It wasn't even mean, I was trying to raise awareness to things that could do serious harm to people. it was the right thing to do. I just wish others would see it that way too. What

Will did was disappointing at best and illegal at worst. And it deserves to be brought to light, not just because of how he and his community has treated me, but because his community also deserves better than this. I was wronged so many times and wanted them to have the justice I never got, it just hasn't happened yet. But I hold hope that at least for the things he has done himself we can have some sense of justice.

Recently I've been in contact with someone who is in the server in hopes they could get me in contact with the team so Will could make a statement. When they asked the team if we could talk, they declined. They first messaged one of the moderators (they're censored because they no longer wish to be associated with DAGames) who then sent them to Lala. Lala immediately declined the offer before they could explain why we wanted to talk. Even after trying to appeal to her wishes the answer remained no. These were taken on July 29th 2024 and were given to me by the person in question who asked to remain anonymous.







This, among other reasons, is why this second document exists. There won't be a statement from the team, ever. They don't want to talk to us in any capacity. This isn't about me getting closure, but about making things right when it comes to sharing the truth. Will isn't given a chance to come clean and take accountability by his own team. Maybe after this he might.
I'm so lucky to have a group of friends that still supports me, that believe me and hold the same standards I do that I'm still here and that I'm still sane. Not everyone is that lucky or that strong. I've doubted myself a lot through this process, hell even since before the creation of the original document. But I know all these things are true. And you should know about them as well.

I hope any of this makes sense, or that it at least explains why I am this way and why I had any part in this.Thanks for reading

Freaky's story
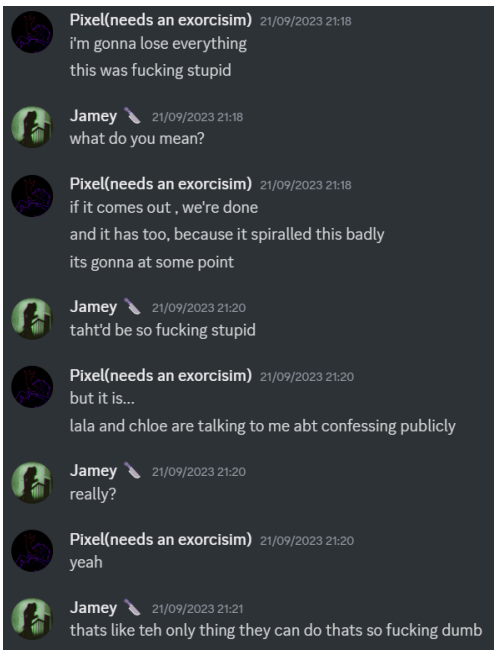
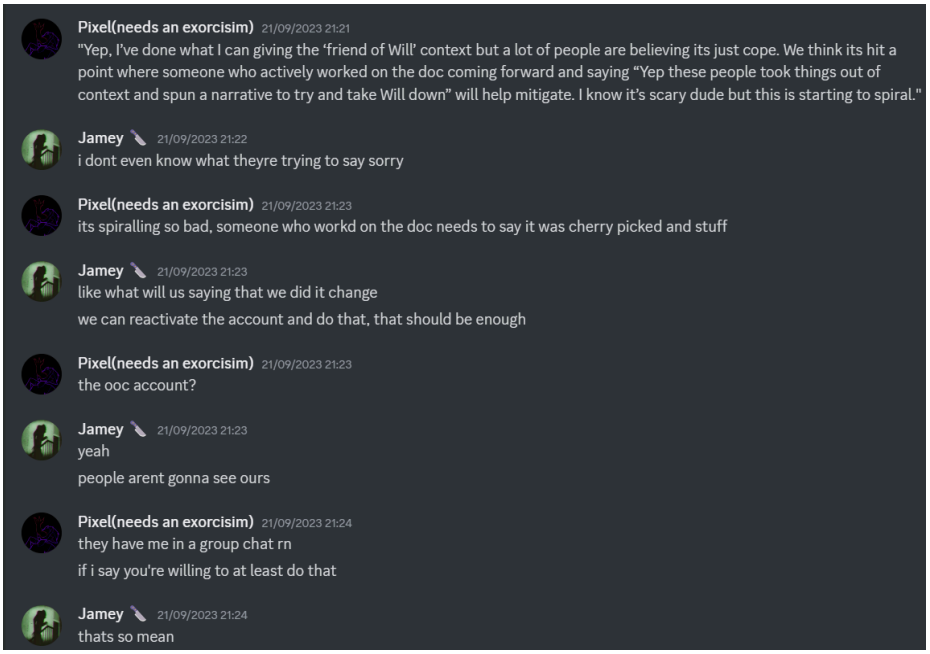
We intended to also have a part where Freaky tells her side of the story, but she's had super unstable internet for well over a year now so she couldn't add it. This was also the case when the original doc was made, meaning it was primarily Pixel and Jamey who made it. Freaky didn't have much influence at all, and we feel Pixel took advantage of that to some degree, but that's speculation. Freaky has also been declined and blocked when asked if people wanted to talk to her instead of me. We offered this alternative because Jamey has a much harder time leaving his emotions out of this, because she was much less of a prominent figure in the community and because we suspect people have a vendetta specifically against me like Jamey stated in his part. It's a shame the team doesn't want to talk, mostly because of the position they put themselves in this way, but also somewhat because it doesn't give us any sense of closure or explanation. We genuinely do believe the community itself deserves a statement first and foremost, but they're not gonna get it sadly.

About Pixelkitty

IMPORTANT NOTE: there has been an update to this which changes a lot of things on october 19th:
Pixelkitty posted a very important statement regarding the mods abusing their power to sweep everything under the rug. You can read it here. This update makes a lot of information in this section outdated, but we will keep it in.

There isn't much to be said when it comes to Pixelkitty's actions regarding the first doc beyond what has already been said. Jamey has already written a thread about them when their "apology" came out. You can read it here. The reason we put apology in quotation marks is because they were pressured into posting it by Lala and were even told what to say because she told us that if they didn't, Lala would reveal our identities. That's not an apology, but a means set up by the team to void Will of any guilt.





As far as we know people have taken their apology as gospel, saying that it means everything is fake. Pixel didn't even say that, just that we picked what to show and what not to share. That part is true because we originally had a whole lot more screenshots that weren't needed whatsoever (i.e. Will getting vaguely upset about even more jokes, Will talking about his suicide attempts, Will saying vaguely homophobic things, etc). The original document has a lot of unnecessary things to begin with, if we didn't pick things out it would've been even worse. We didn't purposefully crop or edit screenshots to incriminate Will as much as people want to think we did. Yes, certain screenshots containing loli aren't findable anymore, but that's because those messages were deleted after the doc came out (as seen in NSFW/Loli), not because they were never real to begin with. We wish none of this was real too, but it is, and it needs to be brought to light.

About the future

We intend on updating this document as more information comes out, that way everyone can access the facts right as they come out. We also fully intend on sharing this document with anyone connected to Will or DAGames. We know that comes off as intrusive, but we genuinely think this is crucial information that people connected to him deserve to know. What they do with it is up to them if they even see it at all.

We won’t stop sharing this document until Will or DAGames has made a public statement, feel free to share it too.
Thanks for reading

Updates

Any updates will appear here as they come out.

October 18th: Several people have approached us in regards to censoring, we're working on making this happen for people who have either distanced themselves or who did nothing wrong. Current mods, friends and masters will not be censored.

October 19th: PixelKitty, who worked on the previous version, posted a very important statement regarding the mods abusing their power to sweep everything under the rug. You can read it here.
